Do's and Don'ts

The General mode of debate at MADMUN will be oriented around a Speaker's List. Aside from this, debate may be motioned from formal to informal debate. Caucusing may be moderated or unmoderated. When making a motion for either, a time and purpose must be provided for the motion to be valid. If the Speaker's List is exhausted, the committee will move into voting procedure by default. Before initial debate can begin, quorum must be established. Voting majorities will be respective to the number of present delegates.

Each committee has been assigned two or three topics of debate. When setting the agenda, if a motioned sequence is rejected by the body, the alternative order will win by default.

When committee is in session, delegates are expected to reflect the positions of the country that each is representing. While MADMUN advocates some creative freedom in method, it is the purpose of this conference to best mirror real-life circumstances. Voting "with rights" may also be used to clarify why a delegate voted as they did.

The MADMUN Secretariat also asks delegates to remember their respective scopes of power. That is to say, if your committee only has authority to make an advisory decision, the committee must limit resolution language to that effect.

In addition, the authority of the dais staff is absolute, only subservient to that of the jurisdiction of the conference Secretary General. Appeals to a dais decision will be honored, at a majority 2/3 majority ruling, but are expected to be used with utmost prudence.

Please do not be afraid to raise a point of inquiry if certain procedural aspects become obscure, requiring explanation. Dais members will be more than happy to answer any questions that may arise. For any other questions, please raise a point of inquiry, or send a note to your dais.

Resolution Breakdown

Who: Who writes a resolution? Any delegate in a committee can write a resolution. The author of a resolution is called a sponsor. Most resolutions have multiple sponsors because it takes a group of countries to share good ideas and to come to a consensus.

What: What is a resolution? A resolution is a document that contains all the issues that the committee wants to solve and the proposed solutions to that issue. It's called a resolution because that's what the United Nations calls the documents they produce. Technically, the resolution should be called a draft resolution before it is voted upon and then called a resolution after it is successfully passed during voting bloc.

When/Where: When and where are resolutions written? Usually resolutions are written during unmoderated caucus where delegates are free to roam around the committee to collaborate on ideas with each other, and students may work outside in the hallways.

Why: The ultimate purpose of a committee session is to pass a resolution. All the speeches, debate, negotiation, and teamwork is supposed to lead up to a resolution which contains collaborative proposed solutions to the issue. Most conferences (including MadMUN) allow multiple resolutions to pass as long as they do not contradict each other, but a few conferences allow only one resolution to pass.

How: A resolution is simple to write. It has three main parts: the heading, the pre-ambulatory clauses, and the operative clauses.

The Heading: The heading contains four pieces of information: the committee name, the sponsors, the signatories, and the topic.

Resolution GA/3/1.1
General Assembly Third Committee Sponsors: United States, Austria and Italy Signatories: Greece, Tajikistan, Japan, Canada, Mali, the Netherlands and Gabon Topic: "Strengthening UN coordination of humanitarian assistance in complex emergencies"

Resolution heading

Pre-ambulatory clauses: These clauses state the issues that the committee wants to resolve. It may state reasons why the committee is working on an issue and highlight previous international actions on the issue. Pre-ambulatory clauses can include:

- Past UN resolutions, treaties, or conventions related to the topic
- Past regional, non-governmental, or national efforts in resolving this topic
- References to the UN Charter or other international frameworks and laws
- Statements made by the Secretary-General or a relevant UN body or agency
- General background information or facts about the topic, its significance, and its impact.
- moral reason that influence your country's position

The General Assembly,

Reminding all nations of the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which recognizes the inherent dignity, equality and inalienable rights of all global citizens, [use commas to separate preambulatory clauses]

Reaffirming its Resolution 33/1996 of 25 July 1996, which encourages Governments to work with UN bodies aimed at improving the coordination and effectiveness of humanitarian assistance,

Noting with satisfaction the past efforts of various relevant UN bodies and nongovernmental organizations,

Stressing the fact that the United Nations faces significant financial obstacles and is in need of reform, particularly in the humanitarian realm,

Resolution pre-ambulatory clauses

It's very simple to write pre-ambulatory clauses. First, take a statement that you want to write about (perhaps an issue you want to solve or a specific fact from one of the five bullet points above). You then take that statement, combine it with an underlined preambulatory phrase, and end it with a comma. Here are some example preambulatory phrases from UNA-USA's website that you can choose from:

Sample Preambulatory Phrases

Affirming	Expressing its appreciation	Keeping in mind
Alarmed by	Expressing its satisfaction	Noting with regret
Approving	Fulfilling	Noting with deep concern
Aware of	Fully alarmed	Noting with satisfaction
Bearing in mind	Fully aware	Noting further
Believing	Fully believing	Noting with approval
Confident	Further deploring	Observing
Contemplating	Further recalling	Reaffirming
Convinced	Guided by	Realizing
Declaring	Having adopted	Recalling
Deeply Concerned	Having considered	Recongnizing
Deeply conscious	Having considered further	Referring
Deeply convinced	Having devoted attention	Seeking
Deeply disturbed	Having examined	Taking into account
Desiring	Having heard	Taking into consideration
Emphasizing	Having received	Taking note
Expecting	Having studied	Viewing with appreciation
		Welcoming

Operative Clauses: Operative clauses state the solutions that the sponsors of the resolution proposes to resolve the issues. The operative clauses should address the issues specifically mentioned in the pre-ambulatory clauses above it.

1. Encourages all relevant agencies of the United Nations to collaborate more closely with countries at the grassroots level to enhance the carrying out of relief efforts; [use semicolons to separate operative clauses]

2. Urges member states to comply with the goals of the UN Department of Humanitarian Affairs to streamline efforts of humanitarian aid;

3. Requests that all nations develop rapid deployment forces to better enhance the coordination of relief efforts of humanitarian assistance in complex emergencies;

4. Calls for the development of a United Nations Trust Fund that encourages voluntary donations from the private transnational sector to aid in funding the implementation of rapid deployment forces;

5. Stresses the continuing need for impartial and objective information on the political, economic and social situations and events of all countries;

6. Calls upon states to respond quickly and generously to consolidated appeals for humanitarian assistance; and

7. Requests the expansion of preventive actions and assurance of post-conflict assistance through reconstruction and development. [end resolutions with a period]

Resolution operative clauses

It's also very simple to write an operative clause. First, take a solution that you want to include in the draft resolution, combine it with an underlined operative phrase, and end it with a semicolon (the last operative clause ends with a period). Operative clauses are also numbered. This differentiates them from pre-ambulatory clauses, helps show logical progression in the resolution, and makes the operative clauses easy to refer to in speeches and comments. Here are some example operative phrases from UNA-USA's website that you can choose from:

Sample Operative Phrases

Accepts	Encourages	Reminds
Affirms	Endorses	Requests
Approves	Expresses its appreciation	Solemnly affirms
Calls	Expresses its hope	Strongly condemns
Calls upon	Further invites	Supports
Condemns	Further proclaims	Takes note of
Confirms	Further reminds	Transmits
Congratulates	Further recommends	Trusts
Considers	Further requests
Declares accordingly	Further resolves
Deplores	Has resolved
Designates	Notes
Draws the attention	Proclaims
Emphasizes	Reaffirms

Operative clauses

Sponsors and Signatories

Sponsors of a draft resolution are the principal authors of the document and agree with its substance. Although it is possible to have only one sponsor, this rarely occurs at the UN, since countries must work together to create widely agreeable language in order for the draft resolution to pass. Sponsors control a draft resolution and only the sponsors can approve immediate changes.

Signatories are countries that may or may not agree with the substance of the draft resolution but still wish to see it debated so that they can propose amendments. A certain percentage of the committee must be either sponsors or signatories to a draft resolution in order for it to be accepted.

Friendly and Unfriendly Amendments

Approved draft resolutions are modified through amendments. An amendment is a written statement that adds, deletes or revises an operative clause in a draft resolution. The amendment process is used to strengthen consensus on a resolution by allowing delegates to change certain sections. There are two types of amendments:

A friendly amendment is a change to the draft resolution that all sponsors agree with. After the amendment is signed by all of the draft resolution's sponsors and approved by the committee director or president, it will be automatically incorporated into the resolution.

An unfriendly amendment is a change that some or all of the draft resolution's sponsors do not support and must be voted upon by the committee. The author(s) of the amendment will need to obtain a required number of signatories in order to introduce it. Prior to voting on the draft resolution, the committee votes on all unfriendly amendments.

Ultimately, resolutions passed by a committee represent a great deal of debate and compromise. They are the tangible results of hours of Model UN debate.
